TEACHERS HEAR GOOD ADDRESSES

Annual Meeting of Lodges of District, Composed of Eight Counties, Next Week.

MEN OF PROMINENCE TO COME

State Officers Will Have Part—Connersville, Shelbyville and Cadiz to Give Work.

The local lodge of Red Men has completed all arrangements for the annual district meeting of the order to be held in Rushville next Tuesday. The program has been arranged and reports from all over the district are that a large crowd will attend.

New officers were elected this afternoon. The nominations were made by the executive committee, consisting of one representative from each county in the district, selected this morning by counties, and concurred in by the meeting.

Considerable interest throughout the state was attached to this meeting because it was a sort of a test to determine whether district teachers organizations were feasible. The organizations are being formed in other congressional districts, but this was the first meeting of the sort ever held. They are the result of a resolution adopted at the last meeting of the Indiana State Teachers Association recommending district societies.

New officers elected were: E. L. Rieckert, Connersville, president; J. H. Scholl, Rushville, vice-president; C. O. Williams, Richmond, permanent secretary; J. C. Edwards, Shelbyville, recording secretary; program committee E. W. Lawrence, Newcastle; E. E. Oldaker, Cambridge City and C. C. Abernathy, Liberty; time and place committee, C. W. Hitchcock, Brookville; J. W. Kendall, Greenfield, and J. H. Scholl of this city.

Connersville was selected for the next meeting, late this afternoon.

The two things of more importance on the program this afternoon were the "Age-grade Census," to be discussed by J. T. Giles of Richmond, and an address on "Domestic Science" by Miss Convey of Indianapolis. Recent school legislation was to be discussed and this was to be followed by a reception to the visiting teachers.

The address at the close of the forenoon by Dr. Horace Ellis, Republican candidate for state superintendent of public instruction last November, on the subject, "Some Character Defects in Indiana School Children," was one of the bright spots on the program. Dr. Ellis was most liberally praised by all the teachers.

The rest of the morning was taken up with the two sectional meetings and an explanation of the teachers pension law by its author, Superintendent L. N. Hines of Crawfordsville. The sectional meeting on "Vocational Guidance" was led by J. C. Edwards of Shelbyville. It was a most interesting discussion and developed many points of value to the teachers. Details of the conference of "Handwriting" and the tabulated statistics read were given in another column in this issue.

All of the teachers were provided with printed copies of the teachers pension law when Superintendent Hines explained it. He went over it, one provision at a time. One point that was cleared up was the fact that it was not mandatory for teachers in any unit to apply the law in their own case, even though

SENTENCE GIVEN FORGER HELD UP

On Plea of Guilty, Lon Flint, Age 22, Mays Blacksmith, is Fined $10 in Court.

SENTENCE IS SUSPENDED

Number of Cases Are Settled in The Circuit Court Today—One Admitted to Bar.

Lon Flint, 22 years old, a blacksmith of Mays, pleaded guilty to the charge of forgery this forenoon in the circuit court and was fined $10 by Judge Sparks, to which was added a sentence of from two to fourteen years in the state reformatory at Jeffersonville. The prison sentence was suspended pending good behavior of the defendant. Flint is alleged to have forged some checks on the Mays bank, the offense having been committed on February 7, 1915.

It was shown the court that he is a married man with two small children and that this was the first time he had ever been in trouble. The court decided that the ends of justice would best be served by suspending the sentence.

A number of minor cases were dismissed in court today. The case of Thomas F. Power, et al., against Joseph F. Rieley, et al., for the dissolution of partnership and the appointment of a receiver was dismissed at the costs of the plaintiffs. The case of Flody C. Cavitt against Mathew Sandefur to foreclose a chattel mortgage, demanding $46.50, was another of the cases by the plaintiff. By agreement the account suit of Benjamin Moore and Company against Greeley P. McCarthy was dismissed at the costs of the defendant. The demand was $100.

The court found for John E. Patterson against William D. Martin in the sum of $135.09 and $11.75 attorney fees in the suit on a note demanding $160. The defendant defaulted and the record shows a trial, finding and judgment, for the plaintiff in the above sums.

The account suit of the Lindenbury Piano Company against John A. Spurrier, demanding $600, was dismissed by the plaintiff and the costs paid.

Judge Sparks granted a change of venue in the case of Alexander Crawford and Chester A. Scott against John F. Boyd for the return of purchase money, demanding $750, and sent the case to Shelby county. Ten days were given in which to perfect the change. The case involves the sale of some fancy cattle which were not delivered because of the epidemic of the foot and mouth disease.

Cecil Tague, of Indianapolis, formerly of Morristown, was admitted and sworn as a member of the local bar. Tague was at one time employed at the local offices of the Indianapolis and Cincinnati Traction company and more recently was connected with the state committee of the Progressive party.

Mrs. John Walker returned this morning to her home in Henderson, after being called to Arlington, on account of the illness of a relative.

REPORT STATES CARDEN IS DEAD

London Rumor is That Vice-Admiral of Allied Fleet in Dardanelles Was Killed.

BOMBARDMENT IS RESUMED

Aside From Loss of Three Battleships, No Serious Casualties Result, it is Stated.

(By United Press.) London, March 20.—Vice Admiral Carden, commanding the allied fleet of the Dardanelles, either was killed or badly wounded in the engagement inside the straits on Thursday, according to a report reaching here today.

Unofficial denials came from the admiralty. It was stated that aside from the loss of the French battleship Bouvet and the British battleships Irresistible and Ocean, no serious casualties had been suffered by the allied fleet. Dispatches to the admiralty today said that forts Kilid Bahr and Chanak, guarding the Dardanelles narrows, were damaged by the Anglo-French fleet which withdrew.

The report came from Athens that the part of the fleet had re-entered the straits and that the shelling of the narrows forts had been resumed.

In the addition the Gaulois, a French battleship, slightly smaller than the Bouvet was put out of action by Turk shells and compelled to leave the firing line and the British battleship Inflexible had its forward part badly damaged by the explosion of a shell and also was compelled to leave the battle line.

The sinking of these ships occurred in the midst of the bombardment of Forts Kilid Bahr, Chanak Kalesi, Soudan Dere, Dardanus and Kephez Point all of which suffered heavily, but replied vigorously to the fire of the fleet.

The town of Dardanelles is reported to have been set on fire by the explosion of a great magazine, struck squarely by a shell from the fleet. An Athens dispatch says that the town is still burning.

The British Admiralty statement, announcing the loss of the ships, says that the operations in the Dardanelles are being continued.

The Admiralty statement adds that the battleships Queen and Imperiale have been despatched from England to replace the lost British ships.

Vice Admiral Sackville Hamilton Carden, who is ill, has been succeeded in command at the Dardanelles by Rear Admiral John M. De-Robec.

Joe Kelly, One of 88 Confessed Conspirators, Tells of Manipulating Voting Apparatus.

SUBSTITUTED BEER OPENER

District Attorney Turns up Possible Evidence to Show Mayor Roberts Misused Mails.

(By United Press.) Indianapolis, Ind., March 20.—How Joe Kelly, one of the 88 confessed conspirators, blistered his fingers manipulating voting machine for repeaters and then substituted a beer opener with which to turn down Democratic keys was told on the witness stand by Kelley today in the Terre Haute polls fraud case.

"What, you used a beer opener on election day?" commented District Attorney Dailey.

Kelly also told how "the boys" fooled the paymaster of the conspiracy in precinct B of the sixth ward.

"I ran out of white cards used for vouchers for repeaters," he testified, "and began using cigarette coupons. Pretty soon I found the boys were adding a lot of their own coupons for vouchers and we had to quit that."

Kelly is known as "the man who short-changed Chappie Moran" an international crook and confidence man. He is one of the most famed characters of the Terre Haute tenderloin largely because of his feat. In order to establish the claim of the government that Mayor Donn M. Roberts misused the United States mail to further the conspiracy to steal the election, District Attorney Dailey today asked Judge Anderson to send Elmer Conover, red light bartender and confessed conspirator to his Terre Haute home where Conover said he had a letter written him by Roberts. Conover was ordered to go for the letter.

SIDE LIGHTS ON CONSPIRACY TRIAL.

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, March 20.—The deadly earnestness of the government's investigation of the recent Terre Haute election is often observed for the attendant in the courtroom by froth and frivolity that do not often get into the newspaper accounts. Gum chewing, for example, is a favorite means of

The Artist's Name

When an artist signs his picture he does so because he is proud of his work.

The fact that it is to hand his name down to posterity is an incentive for him to do his best.

It is with this same feeling of pride that a merchant advertises his name or a manufacturer makes known his trade mark.

The very advertisement testifies not only to faith but to the fact that the advertisers are not afraid to put that faith to the test.

Their only reward can come through their ability to make good.

The man or business that advertises is the safe business to trade with.

some government witnesses of concealing their nervousness, yet when Judge Anderson requested one witness to remove his gum it was taken as a jest by the onlookers.

Mrs. Roberts, wife of Mayor Donn M. Roberts, the principal defendant, was talking to a newspaper man when the mayor raised his finger to his lips as a signal of caution. The faithful woman, who until Monday had not been for a moment away from her husband's side while the trial was on, nodded her head "no" and continued the guarded conversation.

District Attorney Daily, who conceived the idea of applying the conspiracy clause of the federal code to local elections, declaring frauds against the government, bears the heavy strain of examining every witness, tabulating the testimony, and bringing out just the points that he desires to prove from each one. At free moments he relieves his mind by chatting on the most irrelevant subjects. He asked the latest news on the state high school basketball championship tournament at Bloomington and expressed his views on the game as compared with football. Daily is an Indiana alumnus. He affords the spectacle of a Democrat prosecuting the leaders of a Democratic city organization.

After a strenuous day on the floor of the court room, Daily is escorted for a long walk after dinner by Mrs. Daily. She is always waiting to rescue her husband from visitors.

Although considered one of the valuable aides of the government in the case, Attorney Joseph Roach of Terre Haute has not so far entered the court room for a moment while the court was in session. He is seen at times in Daily's office, but he wears his overcoat as though merely a casual visitor. Roach says this is because he was criticised for taking an active part in a previous prosecution of Mayor Roberts. He says at that time the cry was raised that it was a "Joe Roach prosecution." Roach formerly was identified with the seamy side of Terre Haute life and is said to know more about the underworld there than any other one man.

INTEREST IN DAIRY SPECIAL

C. R. George of Purdue Says All
Are Preparing to Meet Interurban to be Run Over State.

THE NEED IS EMPHASIZED

Subject of Summer Feeding of Dairy Cows and Pasture and Silage to be Brought up.

"Unusual interest is being shown in the dairy feeding special that will run over the electric lines of central Indiana during the week of March 22-27." This statement was made by C. R. George of Purdue dairy division after visiting most of the places where the special train will stop. "The dairymen, creamerymen, county agents and all others interested are alive to the possibilities of an educational campaign of this character and a good attendance is expected at most places."

At most of the stops the meetings will be held in the traction cars and will be from one hour to one and a half hours in length. During this time two different talks will be given one on "Feeding Dairy Cows" and the other on "Calf Feeding." The subject of "Feeding the Dairy Cow" for the most economical production is of great interest at the present time. The past winter with its high priced feeds has emphasized this need.

The subject of summer feeding of dairy cows and the pasture and silage crops that can be used during the dry summer months when pasture is short will also be given due consideration. In the creamery districts the subject of calf feeding will be discussed from the standpoint of feeding calves on skim milk. Where considerable whole milk is sold, the subject of milk substitutes for calf feeding will be considered.

In addition to the Purdue speakers, D. F. Maish, President of the Indiana State Dairy Association, and H. P. Davis of the Dairy division, U. S. Department of Agriculture, will accompany the train and assist in the lecture work. Evening meetings will be held at Wabash, Bluffton and Noblesville at which a special program will be given.

Special attention is being given by the local people at these places and very large meetings are expected. At several of the stops enroute, the attendance will be much larger than the cars will accommodate and the local interests are planning on having a special meeting in some local assembly hall. In most instances where this is done, an additional subject will be added to the program to be given by a speaker after the car has proceeded to the next stop.

Wagoner's orchestra went to Milroy this afternoon to play for the show, "Tony the Convict," given by a church in that place.

Don't bother to prepare the tonic; you can get from any drug store a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," ready to use. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color, thickness and lustre of your hair and remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy, lustrous and abundant.

Clothesology!

Being the Experience of One of the Many Satisfied Customers Who are Wearing Betker's Guaranteed Clothes

SUIT LASTS 4 YEARS

Tells How to Buy Clothes so That You Get the Most Good Out of Them and Still be "Dressed Up"

He says: "Mr. Betker, see these clothes? They're two years old this spring and they're as good as the day I got them of you. I'm wearing them for 'every-day' now — and some sport, eh?"

The suit I ordered of you last week will be my 'Sunday' suit for the next two years — then I'll take them for my 'every-day' suit, the same as I have done with these clothes I have on now.

"I experimented with buying cheaper suits at sales for every-day use — there's no argument, whatever. The coat front broke; the linings wore out in less than two months; the pants soon hung like dish rags; in fact, the whole suit lasted only six months.

"Take this suit I have on, the linings are still good, the coat front is not broken, and the pants have only been to the dry cleaner once in two years — and look at that crease in them, that only stays in good clothes. I'll say, it pays in the long run to buy good clothes on the system that I have and then you will be 'dressed up' all the time — work don't hurt clothes of this sort."

The fellow's "clothesology" is correct — it pays in the long run to buy guaranteed clothes and shift them from "Sunday" to "every-day" wear and always be "dressed up."

In all suits made by us the coat front and linings are guaranteed for one year, and even longer under certain conditions.

Let's take a look at the 1500 different patterns and pick out yours — get started on the "dressed up" system.

DRAMATIC CHAT WITH BEAU RIALTO

(By United Press)

New York, Mar. 20.—Charles Frohman and David Belasco have selected "A Celebrated Case" for the all-star revival they will make this spring. Otis Skinner, Nat Goodwin, and others of theatrical fame, will be in the cast.

Frohman delayed his trip to Europe in order to work with Belasco on the plot.

Knickerbocker theatre fans are boosting the new musical jumble "Fads and Fancies," which opened there the other night, to the skies. The chorus, they say, is especially attractive, consisting largely of absolutely pretty girls.

Arnold Bennett's "Milestones" has moved a few blocks from the Liberty Theatre, where it enjoyed a run of seven months, to the Standard.

They who say that New York is steeped in sin are drawing their own conclusions from the announcement that "Sinners" has been so successful that the engagement at the Brady playhouse has been extended to July 1.

The 39th street Theatre hung out a new electric sign this week, when "Taking Chances," a play that already had enjoyed long runs abroad had its first night. The play is a drama in three acts with its scenes laid at Monte Carlo.

Coming Into Their Own

Women of America should take heart, for they are slowly but surely coming into their own.

Their entrance into the political arena in certain states is having a remarkable effect upon the dulled conscience of the body polities in those commonwealths.

Take the city of Chicago as an example.

For many years the political situation
there has been completely dominated by a gang of professional politicians, boodlers and black-legs.

Today the women are in the ascendency and the gang is on the run.

In former years many thousands of men of decency remained away from the polls rather than face the insults and abuse heaped upon them when casting their votes.

Unprincipled politicians gathered together gangs and strong armed men whose duties were to intimidate any man known to be in opposition to the depraved scheme of government.

The underworld elected men to office and controlled them after their election.

The gang simply had the majority of votes, and worked their advantage to a finish.

But the last election in Chicago put the finishing touch to gang rule.

Women flocked to the polls in vast numbers and completely overthrew the gangsters.

Their presence compelled decency and reasonable order at the polls:
not because of any respect the gang had for womanhood but simply because they stand in mortal fear of the feminine vote.

Both Republican and Democratic candidates for mayor of Chicago were selected by the vote of women —and they are good men.

Many decent men have been substituted for the professional politicians and boodlers whom the women kicked into the discard.

Others of unsavory ilk are in daily fear of what another election

Acts of Recent Legislature Are Explained by Expert, John A. Lapp

(This is the sixth of a series of articles written for the United Press by John A. Lapp, director of the bureau of legislative information, explaining the new state laws.)

Largely as a result of an investigation conducted by a committee consisting of three state senators appointed two years ago. The general assembly at its last session enacted four important drainage laws, one of which constitutes a distinct innovation in drainage legislation in this state, and two of which materially change the method of maintaining and repairing drains.

Under these new laws the method
of cleaning drains by allotment is discontinued. Two alternative plans are offered. In one case the repair of public drains is under the supervision of the township trustee and in the other the work is placed in charge of the board of county commissioners and the county surveyor. The township trustee is required to divide all drains into two classes, half of which are to be cleaned each alternative year. The county commissioners only assume jurisdiction when petitioned to do so.

Each law provides for the creation and replenishment of an emergency fund to be used in repairing tile drains and cleaning obstructions from open drains. Provision is also made for the betterment of drains and the conversion of open drains into the tile drains.

The most extensive piece of drainage legislation provides for the organization of drainage, sanitary or reclamation districts for the purpose of constructing drains and keeping them in perpetual repair when completed. The affairs of the district are administered by a board of supervisors elected by the interested landowners.

A fourth law provides that when any drain has been constructed by the mutual consent of the owners of contiguous lands, the drain shall be considered a drain for the mutual benefit of all parties concerned and may not be obstructed without the consent of all persons interested and in case of the sale of any land affected the drain passes to each subsequent owner as a perpetual easement.

Under these new laws the method
of cleaning drains by allotment is discontinued. Two alternative

MEAT INJURIOUS TO THE KIDNEYS

Take a tablespoonful of Salts if Back hurts or Bladder bothers—Meat forms uric acid.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleepless nights, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.

TELLS OF LIFE IN TRENCHES

Rader Says it is Like Living in a Cold, Damp Cellar Flooded With Ice Cold Mud.

ARE AN UNDERGROUND CITY

Three Americans in His Machine Squad and on Thanksgiving Day They Had Feast.

By Phil Rader.
(Written for United Press.)

Copyrighted by the U. P., 1915.

London, March 1.—How does it feel to live in the trenches?

Here's a little recipe by which you can find out. Take a cold, damp cellar, flood it with some three to six inches of almost ice-cold mud. At a height of five feet from the floor stretch a tangle of wires, turn an electric current into the wires and let the voltage be so heavy that every wire will be as deadly as a third rail. How blow out the light, crawl to the middle of the floor in the darkness and stand erect on the floor and trust to blindness that your head won't touch the wires. These charged wires in the darkness represent the train of the bullets flying above you. Of course, if you want to be safe in the cellar you can keep your head down, but if you did that in the trenches you would be neglecting your duty. It is your duty for instance to fire eight bullets an hour if you are on guard. Watchful eyes of the officers will discover whether you are shooting into the air or whether you are doing it with your aim fixed on the enemies' trenches, and a good sentinel is expected to raise his head above the trenches every ten minutes to see what is going on outside.

Victor Chapman, a Harvard graduate, who was with me in the trenches, was something of a philosopher, and he used to say, "The danger of being shot is very small. The trail of a bullet is very small, the space around you as compared with the trail of a bullet is one million to one, so the chances of being hit are in that same proportion."

But it didn't work with Chapman at all. He was hit the very first day, in the arm.

The trenches are an underground city filled with unspeakable dirty citizens. They are in a tangle of sunken streets, the houses are holes in the earth and the streets, in my district, converged in one place, which Americans called "Long Acre Square" into a very exclusive triangle where all the officers lived. There are street signs too, telling how to reach this or that officer's hole in the ground, and now and then there are danger signs warning the passer-by to keep his head low.

It was a two-mile journey through the trenches from our front to the rear trench and on this journey one would meet and pass many men. The soldiers always speak to each others at such meeting just as two men pass the time of day on a country road. The lieutenant is practically the mayor of this underground city; the sergeants might be likened to a policemen.

Theer is trading under way. Tobacco is the money and the store-keeper is the chap who, at any certain time, has more of something than he wants and less of another than he needs, so that every man is a village store keeper at one time or another.

Do you want to go to a music hall? There's sure to be a certain dugout somewhere in the trenches where musical men gather. In our trenches George Ullard, a negro, from Galveston, Tex., played wonderfully on a banjo with one string, and in our mud hut there was the music of mouth organs and accordion and Ullard's banjo every night. The German trench was only forty-five feet away from us at this point and they used to listen to us every evening and cheer.

There are many little tasks with which the citizens of the trench busy themselves. You'll see a man cleaning his rifle, another will be refilling his hut with straw, another will be rigging a bottle on a stock for the Germans to shoot at, two or three may be preparing a dummy figure for a German target and another may be marking his initials in the side of the trench by sticking his empty cartridge shells into the earth. There are artists too in this strange colony. Almost every day there was a wooden tombstone or two to prepare. It was my duty to decorate the tombstone with some sort of design, and a Belgian named Durmino always did the lettering. You might find us almost any forenoon working away with a redhot poker burning names and decorating in a wooden cross which we had constructed out of any piece of wood we could find.

There were 3 Americans in my machine squad of sixteen men—Eugene Jacobs, who still owns a butcher shop in Pawtucket, R. I., Victor Chapman of New York and myself, and on Thanksgiving day we arranged a feast in our hut. Jose Ames, an Argentinian, heard that we had picked up some stray chickens and had shot a goose and that Jacobs was cooking them for some sort of a banquet and he invited himself saying, "I know what Thanksgiving day is, and I'm South American, so I think I ought to come."

The other twelve men in the squad didn't know what Thanksgiving day was but they knew chicken when they smelled them, so we invited them all. The chicken was served out of a huge, magnificent china bowl, which we had found in the deserted house of the mayor of a small town nearby. Chapman, who knows antiques when he sees them, said the bowl was at least three hundred years old and that he was going to take it home with him when he left the trenches. But one day when he permitted five infantrymen of a newly arrived division to sleep in our hut, a shell struck the roof, broke the bowl and killed five men. We left the men and bowl buried in the caved in hut and built a new house.

a majority of the teachers in the unit favored it, if they did not vote to use the statute. The author of the act also stated that if any teacher wanted to participate in the retirement fund after it had been started in his or her unit, they must pay up back dues and in addition pay five percent compound interest. This puts a premium, he said, on early entrance.

Summed up, they are as follows:

the papers of 6,034 pupils in the district, in the grades from three to eight inclusive, graded on quality of penmanship revealed an average of 58.3 per cent.

The average of the quality of writing in the different grades, taken as a whole in the district, is as follows: Grade three, 49.5 per cent;

grade four, 53.7; grade five, 59.6;

grade six, 63.6; grade seven 63;

grade eight, 63.3.

The general average of the writing in the various groups from one to seven is as follows: Group one, 68.2; group two, 65.8; group three, 61.4; group four, 57.1; group five, 56.8; group six, 54.8; group seven 52.1.

In each of the counties of the Sixth district and in each of the city schools a test of the writing of the pupils was made. The papers handed in, each of the rooms, were graded and the results passed to superintendent Holton who compiled them.

There is a variance in several of the returns, caused by the papers being graded by different persons. The totals, however, are fairly accurate. Mr. Holton is pleased with the results he has obtained but who would favor the idea of having all papers submitted graded by the same person.

In making his table Prof. Holton numbered the cities and towns and counties included in the report as he did not desire to make known the names of the various places.

The manuscripts submitted by the 6,034 pupils represented every kind of writing that was ever known to man. Some of it was hardly legible, while other papers were real works of art in penmanship. It shows the wide variance that has existed in persons in the matter of writing, since the beginning of time.

The per cent shown in the different grades of the different groups are as follows:

Group No. One—Grade three, 67.5; grade four, 62.2; grade five, 66.6; grade six, 67.4; grade seven, 80.8; grade eight, 85.6.

Group No. Two—Grade three, 46.9; grade four, 70.2; grade five, 66.0; grade six, 69.2; grade seven, 77.2; grade eight, 70.8.

Group No. Three—Grade three, 50.3; grade four, 59.8; grade five, 62.3; grade six, 65.0; grade seven, 66.0; grade eight, 68.7.

Group No. Four—grade three, 49.7; grade four, 53.0; grade five, 57.7; grade six, 66.6; grade seven, 58.0; grade eight, 59.9.

will interest other teachers as well. Dr. Black stated that he had written 49 superintendents, 130 departmental principals and 185 teachers and the data he obtained was quite interesting. This data was read to the teachers last night and for the most part constituted the address. It was shown that in reply to his letters thirty schools in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades and three only in the eighth grade.

According to the date obtained by Dr. Black a majority of the superintendents favored the departmental plan as it gave the pupils special preparation. Some superintendents, according to Dr. Black stated that the departmental work had a tendency to overwork the pupils and tended towards large classes.

Dr. Black urged the teachers to select those subjects which would create a greater interest among the pupils. He cited history as an example and stated that it was not necessary to go into detail with the various subjects coming under the general head but to give the work so as to interest the pupils. As to salaries of departmental teachers Dr. Black stated that the minimum salary ranged from $630 to $1,250 a year and the average in this state was $870.

He stated that in some schools the plan of promotion differed. Some promote by grades and others by subjects. He stated that one school in Indianapolis promoted by classes and that promotion did not come until the entire class was ready.

In this manner more than two promotions a year are possible. Dr. Black urged teachers intending to take up this kind of work to take special preparation.

The meeting was presided over by H. H. Roberts, superintendent of the Henry county schools. When the association was organized this winter in Indianapolis he was named president. The report of the permanent organization committee was adopted.

The constitution was read by Supt. E. L. Richert, of Connersville, and was adopted as read. Under the constitution an executive committee composed of one member from each county in the district is to be named and they are to select the officers.

The high school chorus gave two selections last evening that were greatly appreciated by the audience. The domestic science class of the local high school served punch following the program. The meeting before and after the regular program was a "get acquainted" affair. The reception committees from the high school were busy last night and this morning meeting all trains and taking the visitors to the Graham building.

He declared that the greatest discovery for teachers is that man is nothing but a nervous system which will respond to stimuli and made of man "this or that." When children come to school, he said, their susceptibilities are along emotional lines—the heart. Now it is the business of the teachers, he stated with much emphasis, to suggest development along the subtler emotional lines. Teachers must feed the child's mind at this time, he assisted, with emotional books.

With all of his powerful eloquence, Dr. Ellis pleaded for good human interest stories well told in the schools. He gave excellent example of his pleadings by repeating some good human interest stories that stirred the large audience of teachers.

DR. BLACK MAKES ADDRESS

First Session of Teachers Association Held Friday Night.

The attendance at the opening session last night was all that could be expected as many of the teachers from over the district found it impossible to get here last evening. The principal address was given by Dr. W. W. Black of Indiana University. Dr. Black, who is a firm believer in departmental work and system in the public schools, spoke on "Departmental Instruction."

Dr. Black stated that teachers may theorize for generation after generation but the actual knowledge and best training comes from the school room. He complimented the teachers in perfecting such an organization as this because the advantages are many in meeting in small groups. The speaker stated that by meeting in groups the teachers were given a chance to exchange ideas and experiences.

The problems of departmental teachers are as great and varied as those of any other teacher, according to Dr. Black, and the problems

LET'S GET TOGETHER ON THIS SILO SITUATION

I want to talk to every farmer around here who is planning on building a Silo this year. I can help you choose the kind of a Silo you need to feed your stock. According to my way of thinking, there is just one real silo made—and that's the SAGINAW SILO. SAGINAW SILOS are Steel-built. They stand up against wind storms. They are air tight. They give sweet, clean succulent silage all the way through. A SAGINAW SILO will bring you more profit on the farm. By all means let me tell you about the SAGINAW SILO before you decide on a Silo. P. J. LYNCH IS ON COMMITTEE

One of Six Who Will Revise Republican Party Rules to Conform With New Law

CHAIRMEN HOLD A MEETING

James E. Watson Explains Plans for Boosting Columbia Club Membership

Pat Lynch of Newcastle Republican can sixth district chairman and Republican candidate for congress in the last election, is one of a committee appointed by State Chairman Will H. Hays at Indianapolis yesterday to revise the rules of the organization to conform to the provisions of the new state-wide, direct primary election law and to a provision in the 1914 state platform pledging all members of the party, and others desiring to affiliate with it, ground-floor privileges in taking part in whatever is done by the party.

The other members of the committee are J. W. Fesler of Indianapolis, E. M. Wasmuth of Roanoke, R. C. Baltzell of Princeton, J. J. LaFollette of Portland, and John W. Lewis of Seymour. The members of the committee are all district chairmen. Their work is of very important interest to the party.

The primary law provides that within six months after it took effect the state committees of the parties coming under its provisions shall meet and arrange for the adoption of rules that will conform to it. The committee named by Chairman Hays will take up the task immediately, as a great deal of labor will be required in making the changes. Consideration of the Stotsenburg-Jones law and participation in a most enjoyable luncheon given at the Columbia Club at noon occupied the attention of the state committee, county chairmen and many party leaders yesterday. The county and district chairmen were invited to the luncheon by President L. O. Hamilton of the Columbia Club so they might be informed of a plan to increase the membership and the efficiency of the club in state politics.

Chairman Hays called the members of the committee, the county chairmen and others into a general conference at the Hotel Severin yesterday morning. The entire time there was given to discussion of the Stotsenburg-Jones law. The district and county chairmen showed that they were not very familiar with it, but that they are anxious to learn all about its provisions.

President Hamilton presided at the Columbia Club luncheon. James E. Watson of this city explained the plans of President Hamilton and others for boosting the club membership. He reviewed the history of the club and spoke of the influence of such organizations in politics. He said that, if the present plans are successful, the club will become the center of Indiana Republicanism. He asked the county chairmen to participate in the booster movement.

Fon Riggs, Rush county chairman attended the meeting.

Sulky Plows

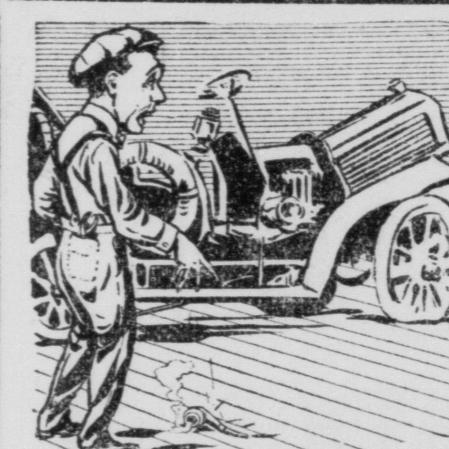

I will sell on September 1916, time Sulky and Walking Plows.

These are the best on the market. The reason why I am selling them on long time is that one order from the factory and one from Indianapolis were both shipped in—this is the reason.

The Sulky is what the farmer has been looking for. This is the greatest plow on earth today. Sam Young says it will plow in any kind of dirt. Sam knows a good plow as he has lived on a farm all his life. I don't think Sam knows a plow from a wheelbarrow. There is one thing I do know—Sam Young won't lie.

If you will call at my place I will show you the Best Plow in the World.

some government witnesses of concealing their nervousness, yet when Judge Anderson requested one witness to remove his gum it was taken as a jest by the onlookers.

Mrs. Roberts, wife of Mayor Donn M. Roberts, the principal defendant, was talking to a newspaper man when the mayor raised his finger to his lips as a signal of caution. The faithful woman, who until Monday had not been for a moment away from her husband's side while the trial was on, nodded her head "no" and continued the guarded conversation.

District Attorney Daily, who conceived the idea of applying the conspiracy clause of the federal code to local elections, declaring frauds against the government, bears the heavy strain of examining every witness, tabulating the testimony, and bringing out just the points that he desires to prove from each one. At free moments he relieves his mind by chatting on the most irrelevant subjects. He asked the latest news on the state high school basketball championship tournament at Bloomington and expressed his views on the game as compared with football. Daily is an Indiana alumnus. He affords the spectacle of a Democrat prosecuting the leaders of a Democratic city organization.

After a strenuous day on the floor of the court room, Daily is escorted for a long walk after dinner by Mrs. Daily. She is always waiting to rescue her husband from visitors.

Although considered one of the valuable aides of the government in the case, Attorney Joseph Roach of Terre Haute has not so far entered the court room for a moment while the court was in session. He is seen at times in Daily's office, but he wears his overcoat as though merely a casual visitor. Roach says this is because he was criticised for taking an active part in a previous prosecution of Mayor Roberts. He says at that time the cry was raised that it was a "Joe Roach prosecution." Roach formerly was identified with the seamy side of Terre Haute life and is said to know more about the underworld there than any other one man.

INTEREST IN DAIRY SPECIAL

C. R. George of Purdue Says All
Are Preparing to Meet Interurban to be Run Over State.

THE NEED IS EMPHASIZED

Subject of Summer Feeding of Dairy Cows and Pasture and Silage to be Brought up.

"Unusual interest is being shown in the dairy feeding special that will run over the electric lines of central Indiana during the week of March 22-27." This statement was made by C. R. George of Purdue dairy division after visiting most of the places where the special train will stop. "The dairymen, creamerymen, county agents and all others interested are alive to the possibilities of an educational campaign of this character and a good attendance is expected at most places."

At most of the stops the meetings will be held in the traction cars and will be from one hour to one and a half hours in length. During this time two different talks will be given one on "Feeding Dairy Cows" and the other on "Calf Feeding." The subject of "Feeding the Dairy Cow" for the most economical production is of great interest at the present time. The past winter with its high priced feeds has emphasized this need.

The subject of summer feeding of dairy cows and the pasture and silage crops that can be used during the dry summer months when pasture is short will also be given due consideration. In the creamery districts the subject of calf feeding will be discussed from the standpoint of feeding calves on skim milk. Where considerable whole milk is sold, the subject of milk substitutes for calf feeding will be considered.

In addition to the Purdue speakers, D. F. Maish, President of the Indiana State Dairy Association, and H. P. Davis of the Dairy division, U. S. Department of Agriculture, will accompany the train and assist in the lecture work. Evening meetings will be held at Wabash, Bluffton and Noblesville at which a special program will be given.

Special attention is being given by the local people at these places and very large meetings are expected. At several of the stops enroute, the attendance will be much larger than the cars will accommodate and the local interests are planning on having a special meeting in some local assembly hall. In most instances where this is done, an additional subject will be added to the program to be given by a speaker after the car has proceeded to the next stop.

It's Grandmother's recipe to bring color, lustre and thickness to hair when faded, streaked or gray.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray, streaked and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the tonic; you can get from any drug store a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound, ready to use. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color, thickness and lustre of your hair and remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy, lustrous and abundant.

Being the Experience of One of the Many Satisfied Customers Who are Wearing Betker's Guaranteed Clothes

SUIT LASTS 4 YEARS

Tells How to Buy Clothes so That You Get the Most Good Out of Them and Still be "Dressed Up"

He says: "Mr. Betker, see these clothes? They're two years old this spring and they're as good as the day I got them of you. I'm wearing them for 'every-day' now — and some sport, eh?"

The suit I ordered of you last week will be my 'Sunday' suit for the next two years — then I'll take them for my 'every-day' suit, the same as I have done with these clothes I have on now.

"I experimented with buying cheaper suits at sales for 'every-day' use — there's no argument, whatever. The coat front broke; the linings wore out in less than two months; the pants soon hung like dish rags; in fact, the whole suit lasted only six months.

"Take this suit I have on, the linings are still good, the coat front is not broken, and the pants have only been to the dry cleaner once in two years — and look at that crease in them, that only stays in good clothes. I'll say, it pays in the long run to buy good clothes on the system that I have and then you will be 'dressed up' all the time — work don't hurt clothes of this sort."

The fellow's "clothesology" is correct — it pays in the long run to buy guaranteed clothes and shirts from "Sunday" to "every-day" wear and always be "dressed up."

In all suits made by us the coat front and linings are guaranteed for one year, and even longer under certain conditions.

Let's take a look at the 1500 different patterns and pick out yours — get started on the "dressed up" system.

Coming Into Their Own

Women of America should take heart, for they are slowly but surely coming into their own.

Their entrance into the political arena in certain states is having a remarkable effect upon the dulled conscience of the body polities in those commonwealths.

Take the city of Chicago as an example.

For many years the political situation there has been completely dominated by a gang of professional politicians, hoodlums and black-legs.

Today the women are in the ascendency and the gang is on the run.

In former years many thousands of men of decency remained away from the polls rather than face the insults and abuse heaped upon them when casting their votes.

Unprincipled politicians gathered together gangs and strong armed men whose duties were to intimidate any man known to be in opposition to the depraved scheme of government.

The underworld elected men to office and controlled them after their election.

The gang simply had the majority of votes, and worked their advantage to a finish.

But the last election in Chicago put the finishing touch to gang rule.

Women flocked to the polls in vast numbers and completely overthrew the gangsters.

Their presence compelled decency and reasonable order at the polls: not because of any respect the gang had for womanhood but simply because they stand in mortal fear of the feminine vote.

Both Republican and Democratic candidates for mayor of Chicago were selected by the vote of women—and they are good men.

Many decent men have been substituted for the professional politicians and hoodlums whom the women kicked into the discard.

Others of unsavory ilk are in daily fear of what another election

Acts of Recent Legislature Are Explained by Expert, John A. Lapp

(This is the sixth of a series of articles written for the United Press by John A. Lapp, director of the bureau of legislative information, explaining the new state laws.)

Largely as a result of an investigation conducted by a committee consisting of three state senators appointed two years ago. The general assembly at its last session enacted four important drainage laws, one of which constitutes a distinct innovation in drainage legislation in this state, and two of which materially change the method of maintaining and repairing drains.

Under these new laws the method of cleaning drains by allotment is discontinued. Two alternative plans are offered. In one case the repair of public drains is under the supervision of the township trustee and in the other the work is placed in charge of the board of county commissioners and the county surveyor. The township trustee is required to divide all drains into two classes, half of which are to be cleaned each alternative year. The county commissioners only assume may bring to them. The women of Chicago are lifting stricken decency to its feet, and what they can do for Chicago they can do in other places.

Woman is coming into her own, and the nation will profit by her advent into the political field.

China has four hundred million people who have not been trained to fight in their national defense, and she is in a blue funk over the encroachments of the little Jap. In the United States we have a hundred million people, but practically nothing with which to fight.

News dispatches tell us American manufacturers are getting a foothold in the South American trade. Slow, too slow! Let's shove in the whole foot.

There's a deal of peace talk floating around in this country, but apparently our voices fail to carry across the blue expanse of the briny deep.

When this war is over we may have to revise our immigration laws in order to check the inrush of marriageable maidens from abroad.

If European countries succeed in kicking international law into the discard we may eventually return to the good old days of piracy.

Warning! No spring poetry wanted in this shop. The office devil is peeved and not in a receptive mood.

If you want to convert a man to better ways, appeal to his reason or his pocketbook—never to his conscience.

America's Foremost News-Weekly

Twenty-five years ago this month the first number of THE LITERARY DIGEST was published. To-day, a million busy people read it because they know that it gives all the facts on all sides of all subjects. They know that to keep reliably informed on every important phase of all important happenings throughout the world, they must read THE LITERARY DIGEST, for there is no other weekly like it. "It supplies a want felt alike by professional and lay readers," testifies Justice Holmes, of the United States Supreme Court.

If you follow the great European conflict through the DIGEST, you will avoid all the confusion and contradiction of the newspaper reports—you will get a clear-eyed view of every development.

THE LITERARY DIGEST reproduces illustrations, cartoons, maps, and portraits—it reprints every significant utterance of European statesmen and diplomats—it shows the points of view of the countries engaged in the war by translating and reprinting important articles, documents, and news-facts from the newspapers of these countries.

"If a man were marooned upon a desert island and had access to but one periodical—THE LITERARY DIGEST—he would keep better informed on what the world is thinking and doing than would the average man in the city with hundreds of periodicals at his command," is the way in which one enthusiast expresses his appreciation of it.

While the DIGEST is just now specializing on the absorbing news of the war, it also gives each week all sides and shades of opinion concerning important happenings in the worlds of Science, Politics, Invention, Sport, Art, Literature, Religion, Education, Industry, etc. It is profusely illustrated and handsomely printed.

We Have Our Spring Buggies In!

and they are ready for your inspection and we extend you an invitation to call and look them over this week as it will be to your interest to make your selection between now and the closing day of our Opening. We will explain why when you come in. We have the finest buggies ever placed on a sample floor and we want you to look them over. If you need a Storm Buggy this is the correct place to get what you want. We are not selling them at a reduction of $25.00, however, but we are selling them just the same as we have all season at $100.00. We have always said that our price was just as low at any time as the cut prices of our competitors, and we are always ready to do as we advertise. When a merchant advertises he has made a cut of $25.00 on a buggy use a little common sense in forming an opinion about this like the fellow that was in a state of Coma, and his friends thought he was dead, but before time to bury him he showed signs of life. When he rallied enough to talk his friends asked him how it seemed to be dead. "Dead," he exclaimed, "I knew all the time what was going on and I knew I wasn't dead, too, because my feet were cold and I was hungry and I knew that if I was in heaven I wouldn't be hungry and if I was in the other place my feet wouldn't be cold. Now if you will study out 99 per cent of the cut price argument you will see just about as much to them as there is in this little story. In other words, somebody has to be the goat, and the man that takes $25.00 off of a buggy during a sale must have a lot on when he is selling regular. Buy your buggies where the price is always the same and as low as any cut price sale ever advertised in Rush County. Let the other fellow be the goat this time.

SEMI-PRO GAME WILL FLOURISH

Many Teams in Indiana Expect Successful Season and Plans Are Going on for Opening

SEVERAL NEW PARKS BUILT

By Last Part of April All Will be in Action--May be Able to Decide on Champion

BY MIKE COSTIN
(Written for United Press.)

With the trooping southward and westward of the big league aggregations on their annual spring training jaunts, the 1915 base ball season has been "officially" ushered in and as a result the numerous semi-pro magnates of Indiana have begun to get busy on the make-up of their respective teams. If the early dope from the semi-pro camps is to be relied upon, there will be many a hot fight staged on Hoosier soil before the semi-pro title is definitely awarded next fall--providing it is "definitely awarded."

The semi-pro game flourished as it probably never had before in this state last year and those who follow the game predict an even greater success for it this year. Although some towns have dropped out of the running, others have sprung up to take their places and there are many exceedingly strong teams entered in the quest for honors.

Last year several new parks were built for the comfort of semi-pro fans alone and early-spring reports thus far have it that more are to be put up to house new teams.

It seems to fall to the lot of central and southern Indiana to hold up the game's rep in the coming campaign, as there are no startling reports of activities from the northern firing lines. Last year the central part of the state was ably represented by Kokomo Red Sox, Logansport Ottos, Peru Greys, Lafayette Red Sox, Delphi Comers, Anderson, Muncie, and a few others not quite as strong as those mentioned. The southern part of the state furnished star teams galore, with Connersville, Terre Haute Bedford, Newcastle, Rushville and New Albany teams standing out pre-eminently in their field. In the northern part of the State, the Michigan City and Laporte teams seem to be the only ones who could be considered serious contenders for any gonfalon that were to be passed out. South Bend semi-pro teams last year were notoriously weak and nothing much can be expected from them this summer.

The Richmond team of last year was rated as one of the best in the state and, according to reports, bids fair to equal its 1914 successes. Kokomo and Peru banded together for another tooth-and-nail fight. These two battled through seven games last season, each winning three and drawing one, at the conclusion of which Peru laid claim to the state title. Newcastle, too, must be reckoned with this season, as the management there is said to have recruited a fast bunch for this season's play. Vincennes base ball was hit a hard blow recently when the team management was unable to secure a lease on the base ball park.

As usual, Indianapolis will be represented by a big gang of semi-pro and amateur teams, whose qualities are as yet unknown. Last season, the Indianapolis Reserves, rated the best semi-pro nine in the capital city, was transferred to Lebanon, where it made an enviable reputation.

Sunday, April 18, should see about all the first-class teams of the state in action. Most of the cities mentioned above are very good base ball towns, supporting their teams exceptionally well, and it appears that the game in this state will again see a most prosperous season, with the magnates again pocketing splendid returns on their investments.

NEW TIME CARD IS EFFECTIVE IN WEEK

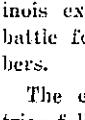

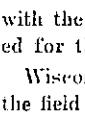

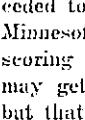

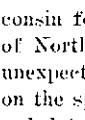

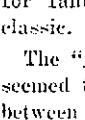

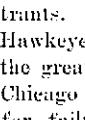

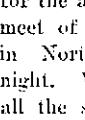

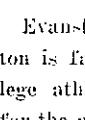

President of I. & C. Announces Change Will be Made Partly Due to Heavier Receipts.

PROSPECTS OF FARES CHANGE

Charles L. Henry, president of the Indianapolis & Cincinnati Traction company, has announced that a new operating time card will be put into effect Sunday, March 28, one week from tomorrow, in most respects like the one in effect prior to November 1, 1914. The reason given for this is that the interurban company is encouraged by the fact that receipts for the last two weeks have reflected a slightly improved business condition and that an increase in receipts is expected from a revision of fares.

Mr. Henry says that it is proposed to adopt what is known as the "copper zone" system, which makes on-half miles the unit of charge for interurban fares and the fare therefor one cent. This will be carried throughout the entire system without variation. The discount on round-trip tickets will be reduced, but they will still be sold at a discount of 5 per cent from double the one-way fare, in all cases where the one-way fare exceeds five cents. Half fare rides for children will be continued. No change will be made in the sale of commutation books, mileage books or in furnishing special cars.

Evanston Fairly Running Over With College Athletes for Annual Indoor Event

THREE TEAMS LOOK GOOD

Generally Conceded That Indiana Teams Have no Show—Large List of Entries

(By United Press.)

Evanston, Ill., March 20.—Evanston is fairly running over with college athletes and adherents today, for the annual indoor track and field meet of the "Big Nine" to be held in Northwestern's gymnasium tonight. With one exception, Iowa, all the schools have sent their entrants. General weakness of the Hawkeyes in the various events and the great cost in sending a team to Chicago were assigned as reasons for failure to enter the winter classic.

The "just before the battle" dope seemed to favor a triangular fight between Chicago, Illinois and Wisconsin for honors, with a possibility of Northwestern or Purdue showing unexpected strength and cutting in on the spoils. It was generally conceded today that Indiana, Ohio and Minnesota have but little chance of scoring many points. Minnesota may get into the weight contests but that will have to be fought out with the Badgers and they are favored for their husky men.

Wisconsin is generally favored in the field events with Chicago and Illinois expected to put up a pretty battle for honors in the track numbers.

The events and numbers of entries follow:

PONIES WON BUT BETTORS LOST

Race Players Phoned to Police Instead of Pool Room—Part of Plan to Raid Places

CALLING COPS WELCHERS

Effort to Interest Women in Boxing Succeeds When Event Is Scheduled For Charity

BY HAL SHERIDAN

(Written for United Press.) New York, Mar. 20.—New Yorkers who play the races telephoned their bets to police headquarters the other day and were sore birds when the ponies they picked as winners failed to fallen their bank rolls.

In its crusade against betting the police department has gone in the pool room business—at least that's the way the betters have it doped. A pair of detectives from headquarters set at phones in an office in William street, got all the information from betting headquarters and received about fifty bets from clients who stand well enough to bet "marksmen."

Some of these bets were on winners, and it was the howl brought out by the lucky ones which brought out true facts. They are calling the cops welchers.

When the day's races ended the police had collected all the information they wanted. The regular pool rooms are down on the police lists and raids galore were in prospect.

A few weeks back it looked like efforts to interest women in boxing here abouts had failed. But the other night, when 200 of the feminine fans gathered at Sixty-ninth Regiment armory, to witness a boxing tournament in aid of the city's poor, pessimists changed their spiel and agreed that beskirted ring-side bugs will be able to master the game pretty soon. The tournament was for charity, and that brought a lot of women who otherwise would not have attended, but the simon-pure boxing microbe's stung some of the girls, at that.

MEAT INJURIOUS TO THE KIDNEYS

Take a tablespoonful of Salts if Back hurts or Bladder bothers—Meat forms uric acid.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithium, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithium-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.

TELLS OF LIFE IN TRENCHES

Rader Says it is Like Living in a Cold, Damp Cellar Flooded With Ice Cold Mud.

ARE AN UNDERGROUND CITY

Three Americans in His Machine Squad and on Thanksgiving Day They Had Feast.

By Phil Rader.
(Written for United Press.)

(Copyrighted by the U. P., 1915.)

London, March 1.—How does it feel to live in the trenches?

Here's a little recipe by which you can find out. Take a cold, damp cellar, flood it with some three to six inches of almost ice-cold mud. At a height of five feet from the floor stretch a tangle of wires, turn an electric current into the wires and let the voltage be so heavy that every wire will be as deadly as a third rail. How blow out the light, crawl to the middle of the floor in the darkness and stand erect on the door and trust to blindness that your head won't touch the wires. These charged wires in the darkness represent the train of the bullets flying above you. Of course, if you want to be safe in the cellar you can keep your head down, but if you did that in the trenches you would be neglecting your duty. It is your duty for instance to fire eight bullets an hour if you are on guard. Watchful eyes of the officers will discover whether you are shooting into the air or whether you are doing it with your aim fixed on the enemies' trenches, and a good sentinel is expected to raise his head above the trenches every ten minutes to see what is going on outside.

Victor Chapman, a Harvard graduate, who was with me in the trenches, was something of a philosopher, and he used to say, "The danger of being shot is very small. The trail of a bullet is very small, the space around you as compared with the trail of a bullet is one million to one, so the chances of being hit are in that same proportion."

But it didn't work with Chapman at all. He was hit the very first day, in the arm.

The trenches are an underground city filled with unspeakable dirty citizens. They are in a tangle of sunken streets, the houses are holes in the earth and the streets, in my district, converged in one place, which Americans called "Long Acre Square" into a very exclusive triangle where all the officers lived. There are street signs too, telling how to reach this or that officer's hole in the ground, and now and then there are danger signs warning the passer-by to keep his head low.

It was a two-mile journey through the trenches from our front to the rear trench and on this journey one would meet and pass many men. The soldiers always speak to each others at such meeting just as two men pass the time of day on a country road. The lieutenant is practically the mayor of this underground city; the sergeants might be likened to a policemen.

There is trading under way. Tobacco is the money and the store-keeper is the chap who, at any certain time, has more of something than he wants and less of another than he needs, so that every man is a village store keeper at one time or another.

Do you want to go to a music hall? There's sure to be a certain dugout somewhere in the trenches where musical men gather. In our trenches George Ullard, a negro, from Galveston, Tex., played wonderfully on a banjo with one string, and in our mud hut there was the music of mouth organs and accordions and Ullard's banjo every night. The German trench was only forty-five feet away from us at this point and they used to listen to us every evening and cheer.

There are many little tasks with which the citizens of the trench town busy themselves. You'll see a man cleaning his rifle, another will be refilling his hut with straw, another will be rigging a bottle on a stock for the Germans to shoot at, two or three may be preparing a dummy figure for a German target and another may be marking his initials in the side of the trench by sticking his empty cartridge shells into the earth. There are artists too in this strange colony. Almost every day there was a wooden tombstone or two to prepare. It was my duty to decorate the tombstone with some sort of design, and a Belgian named Durmimo always did the lettering. You might find us almost any forenoon working away with a redhot poker burning names and decorating in a wooden cross which we had constructed out of any piece of wood we could find.

There were 3 Americans in my machine squad of sixteen men—Eugene Jacobs, who still owns a butcher shop in Pawtucket, R. I., Victor Chapman of New York and myself, and on Thanksgiving day we arranged a feast in our hut. Jose Ames, an Argentinian, heard that we had picked up some stray chickens and had shot a goose and that Jacobs was cooking them for some sort of a banquet and he invited himself saying, "I know what Thanksgiving day is, and I'm South American, so I think I ought to come."

The other twelve men in the squad didn't know what Thanksgiving day was but they knew chicken when they smelled them, so we invited them all. The chicken was served out of a huge, magnificent china bowl, which we had found in the deserted house of the mayor of small town nearby. Chapman, who knows antiques when he sees them, said the bowl was at least three hundred years old and that he was going to take it home with him when he left the trenches. But one day when he permitted five infantrymen of a newly arrived division to sleep in one hut, a shell struck the roof, broke the bowl and killed five men.

We left the men and bowl buried in the caved in hut and built a new house.

will interest other teachers as well. Dr. Black stated that he had written 49 superintendents, 130 departmental principals and 135 teachers and the data he obtained was quite interesting. This data was read to the teachers last night and for the most part constituted the address. It was shown that in reply to his letters thirty schools in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades and three only in the eighth grade.

According to the date obtained by Dr. Black a majority of the superintendents favored the departmental plan as it gave the pupils special preparation. Some superintendents, according to Dr. Black stated that the departmental work had a tendency to overwork the pupils and tended towards large classes.

Dr. Black urged the teachers to select those subjects which would create a greater interest among the pupils. He cited history as an example and stated that it was not necessary to go into detail with the various subjects coming under the general head but to give the work so as to interest the pupils. As to salaries of departmental teachers Dr. Black stated that the minimum salary ranged from $630 to $1,250 a year and the average in this state was $870.

He stated that in some schools the plan of promotion differed. Some promote by grades and others by subjects. He stated that one school in Indianapolis promoted by classes and that promotion did not come until the entire class was ready. In this manner more than two promotions a year are possible. Dr. Black urged teachers intending to take up this kind of work to take special preparation.

The meeting was presided over by H. H. Roberts, superintendent of the Henry County schools. When the association was organized this winter in Indianapolis he was named president. The report of the permanent organization committee was adopted. The constitution was read by Supt. E. L. Richert, of Connersville, and was adopted as read. Under the constitution an executive committee composed of one member from each county in the district is to be named and they are to select the officers.

There is a variance in several of the returns, caused by the papers being graded by different persons. The totals, however, are fairly accurate. Mr. Holton is pleased with the results he has obtained but who would favor the idea of having all papers submitted graded by the same person.

In making his table Prof. Holton numbered the cities and towns and counties included in the report as he did not desire to make known the names of the various places.

The manuscripts submitted by the 6,034 pupils represented every kind of writing that was ever known to man. Some of it was hardly legible, while other papers were real works of art in penmanship. It shows the wide variance that has existed in persons in the matter of writing since the beginning of time.

Of much importance at the session this morning of the Sixth District Educational Association meeting here was the sectional meeting on "Handwriting," in which the discussion was led by J. W. Holton, superintendent of the Shelbyville schools. He has devoted considerable time to the tabulation of the results.

Summed up, they are as follows: the papers of 6,034 pupils in the district, in the grades from three to eight inclusive, graded on quality of penmanship revealed an average of 58.3 per cent.

The average of the quality of writing in the different grades, taken as a whole in the district, is as follows: Grade three, 49.5 per cent; grade four, 53.7; grade five, 50.6; grade six, 63.6; grade seven 63; grade eight, 63.3.

The general average of the writing in the various groups from one to seven is as follows: Group one, 68.2; group two, 65.8; group three, 61.4; group four, 57.1; group five, 56.8; group six, 54.8; group seven, 52.1.

In each of the counties of the Sixth district and in each of the city schools a test of the writing of the pupils was made. The papers handed in, each of the rooms, were graded and the results passed to superintendent Holton who compiled them.

There is a variance in several of the returns, caused by the papers being graded by different persons. The totals, however, are fairly accurate. Mr. Holton is pleased with the results he has obtained but who would favor the idea of having all papers submitted graded by the same person.

The high school chorus gave two selections last evening that were greatly appreciated by the audience. The domestic science class of the local high school served punch following the program. The meeting before and after the regular program was a "get acquainted" affair. The reception committees from the high school were busy last night and this morning meeting all trains and taking the visitors to the Graham building.

He declared that the greatest discovery for teachers is that man is nothing but a nervous system which will respond to stimuli and made of man "this or that." When children come to school, he said, their susceptibilities are along emotional lines—the heart. Now it is the business of the teachers, he stated with much emphasis, to suggest development along the subtler emotional lines. Teachers must feel the child's mind at this time, he asserted, with emotional books.

With all of his powerful eloquence, Dr. Ellis pleaded for good human interest stories well told in the schools. He gave excellent example of his pleadings by repeating some good human interest stories that stirred the large audience of teachers.
